I. Introduction

Petitioners, a certified class of criminal offenders, seek summary relief against the 38th Judicial District and its leaders for allegedly having violated their rights via the imposition of "duplicative costs" attendant to their judgments of sentence.

But the Judicial District adheres to this Court's precedent holding that the calculation of the amount of costs imposed in a criminal case is a ministerial role appropriate for a county (i.e., executive-branch) clerk of courts. See Saxberg v. Pa. Dept. of Corr., 42 A.3d 1210, 1213 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2012) (citing Richardson v. Pa. Dept. of Corr., 991 A.2d 394, 397 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2010); accord McFalls v. 38th Judicial District, 4 M.D. 2021, at 23, 2021 WL 3700604, at *8 (Pa. Cmwlth. Aug. 6, 2021)(unpublished). For this foundational reason, Petitioners' costduplication claims against the judiciary are entirely unfounded.

Petitioners also raise constitutional claims that are not amenable to summary resolution in their favor and, indeed, are meritless.

II. Statement of Facts and of Factual Disputes

The Judicial Respondents¹ largely agree with Petitioners' depiction of the mechanics of the process by which cost imposition may be initially directed by sentencing judges and subsequently calculated and assessed by the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts Office. See Brief in Support of Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief (hereinafter "Petitioners' Brief"), at 4-8. In the most general terms, sentencing judges designate the relatively few instances in which costs will be assessed on multiple counts of a criminal complaint, information, or indictment yielding a conviction or convictions. And judicial personnel then record the judge's determinations and enter them into the Common Pleas Case Management System (CPCMS) without addressing the specific costs that will be assessed. See id. (Joint Stipulation of Facts and Law ¶¶ 11, 13, 19, 20; Hasapes Dep. at 59, 66-68, 76, 95-96; McMullen Dep. at 51-52.)²

² The Joint Stipulation of Facts and Law is attached to Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief as Exhibit "1." The Deposition of Ali

Thereafter, the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts Office handles the ministerial tasks of calculating and assessing the specific costs about which Petitioners complain. See Petitioners' Brief, at 6 ("The costs imposed in a specific case are not actually determined until a Clerk of Court's office employee, known as a disposition clerk, accesses [CPCMS], and, using the sentencing order, manually adds the costs in the electronic case file.") 223(citing, inter alia, Joint Stipulation of Facts and Law Submitted for the January 5, 2023, Class Certification Hearing (hereinafter "Joint Stipulation"), at ¶¶ 8, 25-27)(Jenkins-Phongphachone Dep. at 53-56, 60-61, 67-75, 79; McMullen Dep. at 24-25, 67-68.)³ Again, this allocation of the cost-calculation and assessment function to the county clerk of courts has been sanctioned by this Court. See Saxberg, 42 A.3d at 1213. And Petitioners do not complain about this division of responsibility.

Hasapes dated March 31, 2022 is attached hereto as Exhibit "A," and the Deposition of Meg McMullen dated April 20, 2022 is attached hereto as Exhibit "B."

³ The Clerk of Courts also notifies defendants of the amount owed and is responsible for collecting financial obligations. (Jenkins-Phongphachone Dep. at 76-78; Joint Stipulation of Facts and Law ¶ 29.) The Deposition of Jenkins-Phongphachone dated April 20, 2022 is attached hereto as Exhibit "C."

Where Petitioners and the Judicial Respondents materially part ways lies in Petitioners' efforts to draw a nexus between interpretive guidance issued by the Judicial District and Petitioners' claim of cost duplication. Initially, in 2015, the Judicial District advised the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts Office that "if a sentencing sheet indicates that costs are to be imposed on more than one count, that means that the sentencing judge ordered the imposition of all offenserelated costs on those counts." (Joint Stipulation, at 7 ¶ 23 (emphasis added).)

The 2015 meeting came about because the Clerk of Courts sought guidance on interpreting the Disposition Sheet pertaining to consecutive or concurrent costs. (Jenkins-Phongphachone Dep. at 56-57.) The only evidence Petitioner's cite to of what "offense related" may mean comes from Ms. Jenkins-Phongphachone's deposition. And those references were not about the 2015 meeting or any direction from the Judicial District, but instead concerned how the Clerk of Courts interprets CPCMS and an AOPC workbook when it is assessing specific costs. (Jenkins-Phongphachone Dep. at 39, 47, 51, 66, 72.) According to Petitioners, however, via this meeting and the sole phrase "offense related," the Judicial Respondents have somehow directed the Clerk of Courts to implement an irrational cost assessment practice "often" resulting in the assessment of 19 of 25 sets of statutorily-prescribed costs contrary to the specific terms of each of the discrete, underlying statutes. Petitioners' Brief, at 6-10, 17.⁴

⁴ The above recitation represents merely a summary of Petitioners' argument. The Judicial Respondents by no means agree with Petitioners' self-serving portrayal of the Judicial District's guidance or their construction of the cost-imposing statutes involved here. Indeed, the Judicial Respondents are concerned that any fair resolution of the extent to which costs have been duplicated will involve full-blown statutory construction of the 25 relevant statutes without participation by at least one entity that has an advocacy interest in collecting costs, i.e., the Commonwealth government. See, e.g., 42 Pa.C.S. § 3571 (addressing the Commonwealth portion of cost assessments). And significantly, Petitioners concede that at least some costs may be imposed on different counts in a single case. See, e.g., Petitioners' Brief at 29-31. Thus, the results of the Court's construction of 25 statutes must be applied to each class members' individual circumstances before it can be determined whether each discrete cost was, in fact, properly imposed. And, of course, any failure to impose a cost designated by the Legislature as mandatory would be unlawful. See, e.g., 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 9721 (c.1) and 9728 (b.2). For these reasons and others, the Judicial Respondents maintain that class-action treatment of this case is completely unmanageable, and the Petitioners should be held to raise any issues they have with cost imposition in their individual cases. See Brief in Support of the Judicial Respondents' Preliminary Objections to the Petition for Review, at 20-23; Respondents' Brief in Opposition to Petitioners' Application for Class Certification, at 27-30. Indeed, now

Petitioners seem to trace the issue to an asserted disconnect between the concept of offense-relatedness in a definitional sense and its use to purportedly different ends in CPCMS. See id.

The Judicial Respondents squarely refute Petitioners' assertions about their involvement in selecting 19 of 25 costs to "often" impose on criminal offenders when sentencing judges direct for costs to be imposed on multiple counts. Instead, as noted, in the 38th Judicial District the calculation and assessment of costs is treated as a ministerial matter handled by the county (i.e., executive-branch) clerk of courts. See Kehs Declaration ¶ 12, attached as Exhibit "D." The Judicial Respondents are also without knowledge or information about the treatment of the terms "Offense-Related Assessment" and "Non-Offense-Related Assessment" in CPCMS. See id. ¶¶ 11-12. Quite simply, when it provided its guidance, the Judicial District considered the words used in their ordinary sense.

fully three years into this litigation, Petitioners continue to refrain from advising the Court of the full measure of relief they are seeking against the Judicial Respondents. See, e.g., Proposed Order Granting Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief, at 2 (positing that "[f]urther relief with respect to Count I shall be determined in a subsequent proceeding before this Court"); 3 (same for Counts II, III, and IV).

Because there is no evidence of or justiciable nexus between the allegedly inappropriate cost assessments and the Judicial Respondents. Petitioners resort to inappropriately blurring the distinct roles of the judicial district and the county clerk's office. For example, Petitioners discuss actions alleged by "Respondents" collectively when, in fact, the subject actions were performed by a single distinct entity. Compare, e.g., Petitioners' Brief at 1 ("Respondents, not the sentencing judge, choose which costs to impose and how many times each cost will be imposed."), with McFalls, 4 M.D. 2021, at 23, 2021 WL 3700604, at *8 (explaining that cost imposition is accomplished "through administration actions of the clerk of courts") (emphasis added). Such inapt entanglement by Petitioners—occurring throughout their submissions—spotlights the weakness of their claims against the Judicial Respondents and is irreconcilably inconsistent with the prior decisions of this Court recognizing the distinct roles at play here. See id.

III. Procedural History

The procedural history is as stated by Petitioners. See Petitioners' Brief, at 12-13. The court has certified this case as a class action to adjudicate Petitioners' claims of asserted "cost duplication." See id.

IV. Statement of Questions Involved

1. Is the task of calculating costs attending a judgment of sentence ministerial in nature and thus properly administered by county (i.e., executive-branch) clerks of courts?

Answer: Yes.

2. Does the Judicial District's statement that any assessment of costs on more than one count should be offense-specific violate any statute or principle of common law or the federal or state constitutions or otherwise implicate summary, declaratory, and/or injunctive relief?

Answer: No.

3. Is Petitioners' equal protection claim also meritless because it is based not on the treatment of similarly situated criminal defendants, but instead on purported similarly situated statutes, which is not what equal protection covers?

Answer: Yes.

4. Does Petitioners' due process claim fail where criminal defendants have notice that costs will be imposed and already receive adequate process as a matter of well-established legal precedent?

Answer: Yes.

V. Argument

Summary relief is reserved for disputes that are legal rather than factual, and this Court resolves all doubts about the existence of disputed material fact against the moving party. Rivera v. Pa. State Police, 255 A.3d 677, 681 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2021). Summary relief may be granted only "if a party's right to judgment is clear and no material issues of fact are in dispute." Leach v. Turzai, 118 A.3d 1271, 1277 n.5 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2015), aff'd, 141 A.3d 426 (Pa. 2016). Thus, a court must deny summary relief where: 1) material issues of fact are in dispute, or 2) if it is not clear that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Naylor v. DPW, 54 A.3d 429, 431 n.4 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2012), aff'd, 76 A.3d 536 (Pa. 2013).

Even when facts are undisputed, the moving party has the burden of proving "that its right to relief is so clear as a matter of law that summary relief is warranted." Id.

A. Cost calculation is ministerial in nature and is thus properly administered by county (i.e., executivebranch) clerks of courts.

In the more recent stages of this litigation, Petitioners have been careful not to impugn the practices of sentencing judges in the 38th Judicial District. See, e.g., Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief, at 1, ¶ 3 ("[The] duplication of costs results . . . not from any court order.") (emphasis added).⁵ Indeed, this Court has recognized that it would exceed its jurisdiction were it to entertain a direct attack on the orders of sentencing judges. See McFalls, 4 M.D. 2021, at 18, 2021 WL 3700604, at *8. Thus, the Court has exercised jurisdiction solely over "the method through which . . . costs are subsequently calculated." Id. (emphasis added); see also id. ("This administrative process is thus the spring from which Petitioners' action flows, which thereby vests this Court with the ability to consider it as an original jurisdiction action.") (emphasis added).

⁵ This is a sea change from the Petition for Review, where Petitioners allege that Judicial Respondents should be liable because they "allow" judges the judicial discretion in individual cases to impose costs on more than one count when imposing a sentence. (Petition for Review ¶ 36.)

Consistent with this Court's precedent, see, e.g., Saxberg, 42 A.3d at 1213, the administrative process by which costs are calculated and assessed is handled by the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts Office and not by the Judicial Respondents. See, e.g., Petitioners' Brief at 39 ("It is the Clerk of Courts that assesses court costs[.]"). As this Court has explained:

[T]ypically not even the sentencing judge mandates what costs will be imposed at all. This is accomplished through administrative actions of the court clerk.

McFalls, 4 M.D. 2021, at 23, 2021 WL 3700604, at *10; see also Richardson, 991 A.2d at 397 ("[T]he practice of a judge ordering a defendant to pay costs, and leaving the assessment of the amount to the clerk appears to be a common one[.]"). And clerk of court's offices are county—i.e., executive-branch—entities separate and apart from the judiciary. See Pa. State Ass'n of Jury Commissioners v. Commonwealth, 78 A.3d 1020, 1035 & n.16 (Pa. 2013).

Thus, first and foremost, the lack of any role of the Judicial Respondents in ministerially calculating and assessing costs against Petitioners fatally undermines their cost-duplication claims against the Judicial Respondents. B. The Judicial District's 2015 statement that any assessment of costs on more than one count should be offense-related does not violate any statute or principle of common law or the federal or state constitutions and does not otherwise implicate summary, declaratory, and/or injunctive relief.

Given the above, undisputed background, Petitioners attempt to draw a nexus between the Judicial Respondents and the ministerial cost assessments about which they complain. They do so by pointing to 2015 guidance provided by the Judicial District that "if a sentencing sheet indicates that costs are to be imposed on more than one count, that means that the sentencing judge ordered the imposition of all offense-related costs on those counts," (Joint Stipulation, at 7 ¶ 23 (emphasis added).) See Petitioners' Brief at 6-10, 17. Importantly, this is the sole basis per which Petitioners claim a right to relief against the Judicial Respondents relative to their claims of cost duplication.

But there is simply nothing wrong with the Judicial District's statement that assessment of costs on more than one count should be offense related. Indeed, such directive is consistent with Petitioners' own position concerning when costs may be lawfully imposed across multiple counts, i.e., when a statute specifies that those additional costs are implicated on account of the commission of "specific offenses." Petitioners' Brief, at 29 (emphasis added); accord id. at 30 (explaining that unique costs that "arise from offenses named in the second (or third, or fourth) count"—i.e. costs that are offense-related—may lawfully be assessed) (emphasis added).

For example, the Commonwealth Cost statute, inter alia, directs to the Commonwealth assessments in the amount of $10 for certain summary convictions, $13 for misdemeanors, and $20 for felonies. See 42 Pa.C.S. § 3571(c)(2); see also 42 Pa.C.S. § 1725.1(b) (providing for the collection of these costs in the first instance). It is implausible to suggest that the Legislature would have intended for a defendant who committed multiple gradations of offenses to receive a volume discount merely because those crimes were vindicated via a single charging document. Accord Commonwealth v. Kimmel, 125 A.3d 1272, 1283 (Pa. Super. 2015)(Bowes, J. concurring) (inferring that the General Assembly wished to prevent volume discounts on crime) (citing Commonwealth v. Anderson, 650 A.2d 20, 22 (Pa. 1994)). Rather, the statute straightforwardly recognizes the assessment of multiple costs in multiple-offense scenarios. Thus, Petitioners reliance on the 2015 meeting that costs imposed on additional counts should be offenserelated reconciles squarely with this plain-meaning interpretation.⁶

Moreover, regardless of how the "offense-related" designation may have been otherwise construed by others, the obvious effect should be a narrowing—and not a broadening—of the categories of cost subject to assessment. In other words, the Judicial Respondents can hardly be faulted by criminal offenders for administratively restricting the costs being ministerially assessed by the Clerk of Courts. It is, after all, the sentencing judges' orders that directs that costs must be imposed on additional counts, and for good reason, Petitioners have repeatedly disavowed any intention to challenge such orders. See, e.g., Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief, at 1, ¶ 3 ("[The] duplication of costs results . . . not from any court order.") (emphasis added).

⁶ The phrase "offense related" is also consistent with those costs statutorily defined as for "the offense," "per conviction," "per crime," or "misdemeanor or felony." Numerous statutes refer to costs with such terms. See 18 P.S. § 11.1101(a), (a)(1); 42 Pa.C.S. § 1725.1(b); 42 Pa.C.S. § 3571(c)(2); 71 P.S. § 611.13; 75 Pa.C.S. § 3121; 75 Pa.C.S. § 6506(a)(7). Although Petitioners claim that there are irrational disparities in the ministerial administration of these statutes conducted by the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts, none of these can reasonably be traced to the Judicial District's statement that costs assessments on additional counts should be offense-related in the ordinary sense of those words.

Thus, for their own strategic reasons, Petitioners are willing to afford sentencing judges the benefit of the doubt that they didn't intend or perpetrate any illegality. But Petitioners misguidedly urge the Court not to make the same sound and supported inference relative to the Judicial Respondents, who also—consistent with this Court's authority—simply do not calculate and assess costs. Petitioners' inconsistent approach, in this respect, should be rejected.⁷

Petitioners also vaguely seem to suggest that the Judicial Respondents should be held responsible for an asserted disconnect between the concept of offense-relatedness in a definitional sense and the use of the term in CPCMS. See Petitioners' Brief at 6-10, 17.⁸ But they have proffered no evidence that the Judicial Respondents were even aware of how CPCMS classifies "Offense-Related Assessments" and "Non-Offense-Related Assessments" at the time of the 2015 meeting. Accordingly, the Court should take at face value that the Judicial District meant "offense related" costs to mean costs related to a distinct, specific offense. That is precisely what those words mean. At the very least, Petitioners' strained effort to create a contrary impression presents a factual issue foreclosing the summary relief Petitioners seek against the Judicial Respondents.⁹

⁷ The Judicial Respondents stress that their status as defendants has ramifications beyond whether Petitioners secure substantive relief relative to their cost-duplication claims. Petitioners assert cost-shifting claims. It is therefore not implausible that Petitioners will seek substantial attorneys' fees. The Judicial Respondents believe they should not be exposed to such extraordinary liability when they proceeded in a manner that is entirely consistent with the decisions of this Court sanctioning ministerial cost calculation and assessment by the clerk of courts. See Saxberg v. DOC, 42 A.3d at 1213.

⁸ Here again, Petitioners conflate the Judicial Respondents and the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts by referring to them collectively as "Respondents" while discussing conduct attributable only to the latter.

Again, the Judicial Respondents are entitled to rely on this Court's precedent holding that the calculation and assessment of costs is a ministerial function appropriate to be handled by a county clerk of courts. See Saxberg v. DOC, 42 A.3d at 1213. And nothing in the 2015

⁹ A court must deny summary relief where 1) material issues of fact are in dispute, or 2) if it is not clear that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Naylor v. DPW, 54 A.3d 429, 431 n.4 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2012), aff'd, 76 A.3d 536 (Pa. 2013). Petitioners as moving party have the burden of proving the non-existence of any genuine issue of fact T.L.P. v. Pennsylvania State Police, 249 A.3d 1, 5 (Pa. Cmwlth 2021), aff'd, 269 A.3d 1227 (Pa. 2021). And even when facts are undisputed, it is Petitioners' burden of proving "that its right to relief is so clear as a matter of law that summary relief is warranted." Id.

meeting or embedded in CPCMS should alter this straightforward conclusion.

Given that the 2015 meeting is the sole predicate for Petitioners' misplaced claims of cost duplication by the Judicial Respondents, awarding them summary relief against the Judicial Respondents would be wholly inappropriate.¹⁰

C. Petitioners' equal protection claim is also meritless, inter alia, because it is based not on the treatment of similarly situated criminal defendants, but instead on purported similarly situated statutes, which is not what equal protection covers.

¹⁰ Petitioners also advance an argument grounded on a repealed statute and the effect of the savings claims reposed in the Judiciary Act Repealer Act in terms of preserving that statute as part of the common law. See Petitioners' Brief at 31-35. But the more specific requirements of the cost-imposing statutes in issue here prevail over the common law. Thus, the Judicial Respondents reiterate the concerns previously expressed about the unmanageability of this case in terms of undertaking statutory construction of 25 cost-imposing statutes and applying such interpretations to the many different circumstances of the class members. See supra note 1; cf. McFalls v. 38th Judicial District, No. 4 M.D. 2021, 2023 WL 3513283, at *6 (Pa. Cmwlth. Apr. 6, 2023) ("It is certainly true that all the putative members of the class do not find themselves in precisely identical situations, as undoubtedly there are differences between the putative costs that were imposed against each prospective member as a result of their respective sentences.").

Petitioners' equal protection claim against the Judicial Respondents fails, in the first instance, because the Judicial Respondents simply were not responsible for the "method through which . . . costs are subsequently calculated," which is the sole basis on which the Court has permitted this litigation to proceed. McFalls, 4 M.D. 2021, at 18, 2021 WL 3700604, at *8. As previously explained, this was a task properly assigned to the executive branch. See supra § V(B). And, although 38th Judicial District sentencing judges ordered assessments to be entered on multiple counts, Petitioners themselves assiduously deny that their claims derive from the sentencing orders. See, e.g., Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief, at 1, ¶ 3 ("[The] duplication of costs results . . . not from any court order.") (emphasis added).

Also, as noted, the upshot of the 2015 meeting was that the discussion about costs on subsequent counts to the Clerk of Courts was appropriate based on the plain meaning of the words used. See supra § V(B). Moreover, that only narrowed the categories of costs subject to assessment. See id.

Turning to the substantive issue, "[p]ersons,' not objects, are entitled to equal protection." Thomas v. Smith, No. 235 M.D. 2022, 2023 WL 6886535, at * 4 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2023)(unpublished).

Despite this Court's recent restatement of what equal protection protects, Petitioners make a unique – and incorrect – equal protection claim. They do not claim that similarly situated people are treated differently. Instead, Petitioners argue that similarly situated statutes should be treated the same. But that's not what equal protection covers. Equal protection doesn't apply to statutes – it applies to people. And according to Petitioners, all defendants with costs on more than one count receive the same costs. Petitioners do not offer any evidence that similarly situated persons are being treated differently. See Petitioners' Brief at 36-39.

Equal protection requires that "like persons in like circumstances will be treated similarly" under the law. M. T. v. Pennsylvania State Police, 298 A.3d 466, 472 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2023) (Ceisler, J.) (emphasis added). That Petitioners assert a class of one equal protection claim does not change that requirement.

Even in a class of one context, a plaintiff must establish that they were intentionally "treated differently from others similarly situated." Uniontown Newspapers, Inc. v. Roberts, 839 A.2d 185, 198 (Pa. 2003); M.T., 298 A.3d at 472 (a class of one claim requires showing one was treated differently from "others similarly situated").¹¹

This Court in Thomas confirmed this. There, the petitioner alleged that the Department of Corrections violated equal protection not by treating him differently from other inmates, but by banning "word processor typewriters with memory capability but allowing other electronic devices with memory capability[.]" Thomas, 2023 WL 6886535, at *4. In other words, the focus was not on treating inmates differently – the policy applied to all inmates – but instead on treating objects differently. This Court held that equal protection could not be violated in such a situation. Id. Here, Petitioners' claim that

Respondents treat statutes differently is no different from the argument that Thomas rejected.¹²

Flowing from these holdings is the unremarkable conclusion that if similarly situated persons are not treated differently, then an equal protection claim fails. Thus, where all people are treated the same, equal protection is not violated. In Commonwealth v. Parker White Metal Co., the Supreme Court noted that the "starting point of equal protection" is "whether the State has created a classification for the unequal distribution of benefits or imposition of burdens." 515 A.2d 1358, 1363 (Pa. 1986). There, the statutes at issue applied "equally and across the board to any and all potential violators[.]" Id. Hence, the "short and sufficient answer" to equal protection was that the statutes did not create the necessary classifications of persons. Id.

Likewise, the Superior Court held that a statute that "applies across the board to any and all violators" cannot violate equal protection. Commonwealth v. Grove, 170 A.3d 1127, 1145-46 (Pa. Super.

¹² In Thomas, whether the Department had a rational or valid reason for banning some devices and not others is a separate question from whether equal protection applied. Even if the ban was improper, it could not establish an equal protection claim.

2017), alloc. denied, 185 A.3d 967 (Pa. 2018). As did the Supreme Court, the Court held that the "threshold question" is whether a classification has been created. Id.

Here, if the Clerk of Courts levies some costs that could be imposed more than once but not others for all criminal defendants, then it does not treat similarly situated criminal defendants differently. All defendants receive the same treatment, and no classification is created.¹³ To the extent Petitioners might have rested their equal protection claim on the fact that some criminal defendants are ordered by a sentencing judge to pay costs on more than one count while others are not, that fails to state an equal protection claim.

This Court addressed and rejected such a claim in Correll v. Com., Dept. of Transp., 726 A.2d 427 (Pa. Cmwlth. 1999)(en banc), holding that equal protection is not violated where "criminal defendants charged with the same conduct are sometimes treated differently." Id. at 431. In Correll, the petitioner alleged that the Interstate Compact violated equal protection because it treated Pennsylvania drivers convicted out-of-state differently than those convicted in state – namely, that in-state violators could obtain ARD while out-of-state violators couldn't. The Court first held that the Compact was facially neutral – it applied to all persons convicted, no matter when the offense occurred. Id. at 430-31.

Next, the Court held that no discriminatory effect existed:

[A]ll that can be said is that from state to state, county to county and judge to judge, criminal defendants charged with the same conduct are sometimes treated differently. This is simply a fact of life; plea bargains, downgrading of offenses, diversion programs and sentencing alternatives are necessarily subject to the vagaries of individual discretion. If this were a violation of equal protection, all those receiving treatment harsher than some statistical average could mount successful constitutional challenges to their convictions. The absurdity of such a notion is self-evident, but this is precisely the argument Correll is making.

Id. at 431.

Here, the undisputed evidence is that costs are imposed on a count only if the sentencing judge orders it in their judicial discretion. Even more, the Judicial Respondents have no role in a sentencing judge's determination of which defendants are assessed costs on more than one count.

Petitioners' cited cases are distinguishable because – as expected for equal protection – they concern different treatment of similarly situated people. In Downingtown Area Sch. Dist. v. Chester Co. Bd. of Assessment Appeals, which involved property taxes, the question was whether "similarly situated taxpayers" were treated the same. 913 A.2d 194 (Pa. 2006). The Supreme Court noted that "federal law clearly contemplates the seasonable attainment of rough equality in treatment among similarly situated property owners." Id. at 201.

In Uniontown Newspapers, Inc., a newspaper reporter alleged that he was denied access to records "given to other similarly situated reporters." 839 A.2d at 198 (emphasis added). Thus, while the court recognized a class of one, it did so because the plaintiff was alleging that he was treated differently from other reporters.

 $\mathbf{24}$

The Haveman v. Bureau of Professional & Occupational Affairs case is no different: The issue involved a moral character requirement for cosmetology licenses, but not for barber licenses. 238 A.3d 567, 577 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2020)(en banc). This Court held that because similarly situated licensed professionals were treated differently, equal protection under the Pennsylvania Constitution was violated. Id. at 579.

All in all, Petitioners' cases reaffirm that the operative question is whether similarly situated people are treated differently. And Petitioners provide no evidence of disparate treatment for similarly situated people, thereby failing to meet their burden of proof required for summary relief.¹⁴

D. Petitioners' due process claim fails where criminal defendants have notice that costs will be imposed and already receive adequate process as a matter of wellestablished legal precedent.

Petitioners next claim that "[t]he assessment of court costs" triggers the requirement of due process in the form of the issuance of a bill of costs. Petitioners' Brief at 39-48. At the same time, Petitioners correctly acknowledge that "[i]t is the Clerk of Courts that assesses Court costs[.]" Id. at 39. Since per Petitioners' own argument the ministerial activity performed by the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts office underpins their claim, no relief can be due from the Judicial Respondents. Accord supra § V(A). Again, Petitioners' entire argument against the Judicial Respondents is premised on characterizing them under the umbrella of "Respondents" and blurring the material distinction between the judicial and county actors. See supra § II.

Petitioners' due process argument also fails because it is predicated upon the errant factual premise that defendants must receive an itemized list of costs, along with an explanation of how to challenge these costs, to satisfy their due process rights. This Court has already adjudicated this challenge and concluded to the contrary several times, including in Richardson v. Pa. Dept. of Corr., 991 A.2d 394 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2010) and Sherwood v. Pa. Dept. of Corr., 268 A.3d 528 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2021).

In Richardson, this court examined the issue of due process raised by a prisoner who alleged he was denied his constitutional rights for lack of a hearing to assess his ability to pay court-ordered costs and restitution. See Richardson, 991 A.2d at 396. There, this Court rejected this claim based on the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's decision in Buck v. Beard, 879 A.2d 157 (Pa. 2005), which held that the sentencing hearing provides all the due process required before deductions for costs are made from an inmate's account. Richardson, 991 A.2d at 396.¹⁵

Sherwood involved challenges to the collection of costs without an itemized breakdown of costs, and here, applying Richardson, this Court found no error. Sherwood, 268 A.3d at 546. ("Therefore, a sentencing judge is not required to explicitly enumerate every type of court cost or cost of prosecution in a sentencing order to authorize a clerk of court to include such costs and for them to be deducted from an inmate's account by DOC. A general order ordering a defendant to pay costs is sufficient.").

¹⁵ The Third Circuit Court of Appeals decision in Montanez v. Secretary of Pa. Dept. of Corr., 773 F.3d 472 (3d Cir. 2014) discusses but does not limit Buck's holding that sentencing provides sufficient notice and due process. Notably, Montanez notes that the decision did not implicate the due process provided by the Pennsylvania courts. Id. at 482. Further, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's recent decision in Washington v. Pa. Dept. of Corr., 306 A.3d 263 (Pa. 2023), favorably cites the Buck decision for the factual history and holding that the sentencing hearing provides adequate pre-deprivation due process. Id. at 286.

Applied here, the legal holdings in Buck, Richardson and Sherwood operate to rebut Petitioners' due process argument for all Petitioners and class members who were assessed costs and participated in a sentencing hearing. In fact, the very processes that Petitioners here complain about—where the sentencing judge orders costs and the clerk of courts assesses them—were noted with approval by the Sherwood and Richardson courts. See, e.g., Sherwood, 268 A.2d at 546.

Likewise, Petitioners find no support in Commonwealth v. Coder, 415 A.2d 406, 410 (Pa. 1980), and Commonwealth v. Allshouse, 924 A.2d 1215 (Pa. Super. 2007), for the idea that defendants who are assessed statutory costs must receive an itemized list. In Coder, unlike here, the petitioner complained about not receiving the costs of prosecution in the form of a bill of costs filed by the District Attorney that complied with 16 P.S. § 1403.¹⁶ Coder, 415 A.2d at 410.

¹⁶ 16 Pa. Stat. Ann. § 1403 provides:

All necessary expenses incurred by the district attorney or the district attorney's assistants or any officer directed by the district attorney in the investigation of crime and the apprehension and

The Coder court held that the District Attorney is obligated to provide a defendant who is charged with such costs, a reasonably specific bill of costs and show how such costs were necessary to the prosecution. Id. at 410. The court found that the burden was impermissibly shifted to the defendant (to show the costs were unnecessary) and the bill of costs was insufficiently specific to meet the Commonwealth's burden of proof, thus leading to remand on the bill of costs. Coder, 415 A.2d at 410. For the same reason, Allshouse does not help Petitioners as that case also addressed the District Attorney's variable costs under 16 P.S. § 1403, not the fixed statutory costs that are at issue here. See Allshouse, 924 A.2d at 1229.

prosecution of persons charged with or suspected of the commission of crime, upon approval thereof by the district attorney and the court, shall be paid by the county from the general funds of the county. In any case where a defendant is convicted and sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and trial, the expenses of the district attorney in connection with such prosecution shall be considered a part of the costs of the case and be paid by the defendant. (emphasis added).

Petitioners incorrectly stretch the bill of costs notice obligations that attach pursuant to 16 P.S. § 1403 and Coder beyond permissible limits. Unlike the varying costs of prosecution found in Coder and Allshouse, the statutory costs ordered by the trial judges and assessed by the clerk of courts are contained in statutory language, imposed by statutory mandate, and not subject to any burden of proof obligations that require additional notice.

By way of example, in addition to the authorizing language in each of the twenty-five statutes that Petitioners highlight, it is legally clear that each Petitioner and member of Petitioners' class are liable for costs unless the court determines otherwise:

(b.2) Mandatory payment of costs.--Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, in the event the court fails to issue an order under subsection (a) imposing costs upon the defendant, the defendant shall nevertheless be liable for costs, as provided in section 9721(c.1), unless the court determines otherwise pursuant to Pa.R.Crim.P. No. 706(C) (relating to fines or costs). The absence of a court order shall not affect the applicability of the provisions of this section.

42 Pa. S.C.A. § 9728 (describing the sentencing process for imposing costs).

In this respect, then, statutory notice plainly notifies all criminal defendants of the obligations upon defendants for the statutory costs associated with their convictions and/or guilty pleas, with or without a court order. In addition to statutory notice, defendants also have actual, physical notice about assessed costs in that the sentencing judge orally announces that costs are imposed at the sentencing hearing (in their presence), and on which count. Thus, even if a defendant was somehow not aware that costs would be imposed (despite statutory notice and counsel), they are notified in front of the judge. (Joint Stipulation, at 3-4 ¶¶ 6, 9, Hasapes Dep. at 53-59.) Next, the Disposition Sheet, which is provided to Defendants right after sentencing, states that costs are imposed, and on which count. (See id. ¶ 11; Hasapes Dep. at 51-56.) Finally, as Petitioners' exhibits pervasively reflect, the public dockets list the costs on the case.¹⁷

The Pennsylvania Superior Court's jurisprudence mirrors this Court's and that of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. In Commonwealth v. Dipietro, No. 1002 WDA 205, 2016 WL 2910092, at *5 (Pa. Super. 2016), the defendant argued that the costs and fines imposed at sentencing were illegal because each cost was not specifically mentioned at sentencing or in the sentencing order. The defendant, who pled guilty, wanted the sentence vacated so he could "renegotiate a plea that is not ambiguous regarding fines and costs." Id.

¹⁷ While Petitioners allege – without evidence – that they have not received a bill of costs or other statement from setting forth the specific costs assessed in their cases, (Application for Summary Relief ¶ 75), they noticeably also do not allege that they ever sought a bill or itemization or that if they had, it would not have been provided.

The Dipietro Court disagreed: "[a]ppellant cites no law indicating he is immune from payment of statutorily mandated court costs simply because his plea bargain did not expressly delineate each line item." Id. (emphasis added). More recently, the Superior Court reiterated that a sentence is not illegal where a sentencing order referenced costs but did not specifically itemize them. Commonwealth v. Abbott, 304 A.3d 719, 719 n.2 (Pa. Super. 2023).

In sum, the law and the facts here clearly rebut Petitioners' due process complaints. Also, it would be an odd result, bordering on contradictory, where statutory language and case law provides that a clerk of courts may assess statutory costs even if a sentencing judge does not list each one or issue an order, yet the courts are required to provide a list of such costs.

VI. Conclusion

Honorable Court to deny Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief.

A The the biggest thing I seem to be understanding, and I could be wrong, was is that it is the imposition of costs on multiple counts. So if there is if there is a someone who is pleading guilty or whatever the case may be, if there is a lead charge and then the second charge, whether the second charge has costs on it. That seems to be that is kind of what was driven home to me. Q Okay. Great. Did you ask questions during that meeting? A I don't I actually don't think I did. Q Okay. A Yeah. It was kind of just the sitting there and listening to what they were having to say. 	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	probably just sat there. I don't remember actually answering questions or asking questions. Q Well, that is actually what I was going to go to next. Congratulations on the new position. A Thank you. Q Tell me how it came about that you got this position and what this position is compared with your last one. A So I have been a court clerk for about 14 years. I have worked for the same judge for 11. My previous supervisor got a new position and this opened up and the timing was right for me with certain things, so I decided to apply for it. I interviewed and I got it. But most of my time has been spent as a court clerk in the criminal division. So for this for these purposes, I'm probably a good person to be here. So Q It sounds like you are the perfect

1	Q Okay.	1	So you started answering this earlier
2	A So I I wouldn't be I'm not sure	2	when I when I pointed you to our list of
3	why it was chosen to use the other one as	3	questions.
4	opposed to this one.	4	So now, I'm going to go sort of in
5	Q Okay. Other than your your trip to	5	slower detail over what you have told me about
6	Lancaster, are you have you talked to clerks	6	how this document is is used.
7	in other judicial districts about how they	7	A Okay.
8	handled sentencing and dispositions?	8	Q Let's start with, who is the first
9	A I have not.	9	person to print out one of these or or touch
10	Q Okay. When you went to Lancaster, were	10	one of these?
11	they it sounded like they were also using a	11	A Court clerk.
12	paper disposition sheet?	12	Q And what does the court clerk do in
13	A They had one of those I'm going to	13	that the very first thing?
14	blank on what it is called, one of those things	14	A We we so we prepare files in
15	where forms where you write on it and it	15	advance. So we would get a stack of files. We
16	creates multiple copies of it.	16	would take the green sheet. We would caption it
17	Q Okay.	17	off the bills of information that are in the
18	A So they would give that to the judge.	18	file.
19	It was more of a checklist kind of thing and	19	You put the defendant's name and all of
20	then someone would enter it into CPCMS after the	20	their charges would go in this top part. That
21	fact. So it was a similar process but slightly	21	is the initial usage of the green sheet.
22	different.	22	Then when it is time for the Court
23	Q Okay. All right. I'm going to go back	23	hearing, we would then take it and update it
24	to the Montgomery County disposition sheet. You	24	with the information provided either by the
25	can put the other one aside.	25	judge or if there is an agreement, the District

2	Q Okay. Let's start with if there is an	2	up to in terms or our
3	agreement.	3	MR. GROGAN: Fourteen 14, I think.
4	A Okay.	4	MS. ROPER: We are going to call this
5	Q You mentioned that you would get the	5	Plaintiff Exhibit 14.
6	terms of a negotiated plea ahead of time?	6	(Exhibit No. 14 was marked for
7	A Correct.	7	identification.)
8	Q What form would that would that come	8	BY MS. ROPER:
9	in?	9	Q It is a blank version of what you had in
10	A We have a paper that kind of has a	10	front of you. I'm going to hand you a pen.
11	very like, you know, checkboxes for them to	11	A Thank you.
12	fill out.	12	Q And would you put just the number one by
13	And they kind of chicken scratch it	13	any of the lines that you, as a court clerk,
14	together, and we have to figure out what it says	14	would have filled out before you before
15	and then we put it on the green sheet.	15	anything, before you even get the information
16	Q Okay. And what looking at this	16	from the party
17	exhibit, let's start with which lines and I'm	17	A So to prepare the document?
18	actually going to first, I'm going to give	18	Q Yes. To prepare the document?
19	you another one of these sheets but it is going	19	A This area and this area.
20	to have a new exhibit number on it.	20	Q Okay. And if you have a negotiated plea
21	MS. ROPER: Counsel, I'm just going to	21	and you get some chicken scratch form from the
22	have her create a demonstrative and we will make	22	DA and the defense attorney, could you put a 2
23	copies of it later. I'm going to ask her to	23	in the areas of this form that you would fill in
24	make notes on this blank sheet.	24	based on the information provided on that
25	MR. DALEY: Okay.	25	document?

1	A So do you want me to do it as a	1	most of the boxes and sections of this form?
2	negotiated plea or	2	A I don't know if I would call it most.
3	Q Let's start that way. Yes.	3	It it is case dependent.
4	A So we would fill this block out, this	4	Q Okay.
5	block out, this area here, this area here. If	5	A But you can I mean, it depends. So,
6	there are counts that are being nolle prossed,	6	like, this section here in the front is only
7	you would do this section here.	7	used for trial. So we wouldn't touch that if it
8	It if it is a probation sentence, you	8	is negotiated. You know, this whole area here.
9	would do this part here. And then based upon	9	This area down here is if the sentence
10	the terms of the of the sentence if it	10	is deferred. You wouldn't touch that in a
11	were for this example, I will do it if it is	11	negotiated. There are sections of this that are
12	a probationary sentence and then this section	12	kind of just case specific.
13	down here, it is term specific.	13	Q I understand.
14	So if they were ordering domestic	14	So is there any other part of this form
15	violence counseling, if they were ordering, you	15	that gets filled out before the Court hearing?
16	know, community service, there are different	16	A No. Just this top part where I
17	boxes down here but these two are always	17	indicated where the ones are.
18	checked.	18	Q Okay. So once you are in let me
19	Q When you say this section here, you are	19	let me not put words in your mouth. You said
20	talking about the special conditions section?	20	you then give this form to the judge?
21	A Correct. This section down here.	21	A Correct. Well, when the terms it is
22	Q Great.	22	judge specific. However, my practice as a court
23	Okay. So it sounds like you would get a	23	clerk was always to hold it as the terms were
24	lot of information about the negotiated the	24	being announced on the record so that I could
25	terms of negotiation. You would get to fill out	25	check on that I would put on here was correct.

Is that the only time that you spoke to either of them about this deposition or the lawsuit? A It is minus the fact that I told them I was I told Andrea that I was here today. I didn't talk about anything in depth but it was just that hey, I will be I'm unavailable this afternoon but that is about it. Q Okay. All right. And when you had the meeting with Miss Grace and Mr. Kehs, who described the issue to you? A Michael. Q And how did he describe it? A Just that it was that it was an issue that we were being sued and he did he asked me what my understanding of how costs were imposed and that was kind of it. It wasn't a very long meeting. A Just that this is how it depends on	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23	 Court says and we just put it on the sheet. Q Okay. And what did Miss Grace say during that meeting? Can you identify where in this manual court clerks are instructed how to enter into CPCMS the fact that the presiding judge ordered the defendant to pay costs? A. Okay. I haven't come across it. I'm sorry. Do you have it? If you do, you could help me find it in here. Q. Well, I don't know if I have it.

Not since I've been in court administration. Q. You have not? A. Not since I've been in court administration. Q. Okay. Can we turn back to Exhibit 6? In the answers to Question 8d, the 38th Judicial District noted that court clerks enter certain information into CPCMS, including whether or not costs are to be imposed on which counts. Is that something that court clerks do? A. Yes. Q. So now, I'm going to turn to Exhibit 2, the manual. And before, Ms. McMullen, you A. Where do you want me to go to? Q. Before you go anywhere, what does it mean to say that court clerks enter into CPCMS whether or not 	3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21	 A. Okay. It would if, for instance, in this case, whatever count well, whatever Count 2, if it's a guilty, there would be another tab underneath that event and it would say course of prosecution, you know, blah, blah, blah, you know, it talks about costs being ordered, and if there was a fine, it would be there also. Q. If you could just take a moment to review Exhibit 2, which is the Court Clerks Manual for Disposing and Sentencing Cases in CPCMS. There's probably over 500 things in the dropdown. I mean, there's all kinds of conditions. I mean, community service. I mean, you name it. Q. Okay. So here when the court clerk gets to this screen and they see that a presiding judge has ordered the defendant to pay costs, they would click on condition, and then they would scroll through a drop-down menu to find where it says cost of Defendant is to pay the cost of prosecution?

I would like to ask a few more questions, Ms. McMullen, if you would allow it, just to clarify some things that we discussed before. We discussed before Exhibit 7, which is the sentencing disposition sheet that was revised by the court clerks in July of 2020. You mentioned that something prompted the revision of that sentencing sheet in or around July 2020. Could you just discuss in a little bit of detail what prompted you or members of your office to revise the sentencing disposition sheet? A. I have no knowledge that the court clerks were the ones that prompted it. Q. And do you know who prompted the revisions? A. I do not. Q. When does this July 2020 Exhibit 7 sentencing

And we just went through a whole process where you showed us in CPCMS court clerks indicated whether costs have been imposed and on which counts. There's no place in that process that you just described for us for the court clerks to enter, for example, the numerical value for costs; is that correct? A. That's correct. Q. Okay. And there's no place in that process that you described for us for a court clerk to indicate the specific costs that the defendant must pay; is that correct? A. Correct. Q. 18	A. That's correct.	18	Q. It was a long time ago.
19	Q. Okay. How do you know that?	19	A. If she was, I met with different people than 20	A. I visited some of the other counties.	20	she did while we were there.
21	Q. Do you remember which counties you visited?	21	Q. And did you visit other counties?
22	A. Lancaster, for one.	22	A. Philadelphia.
23	Q. Do you remember when you visited Lancaster?	23	Q. And any others?
24	A. I do not. I mean, prior to the pandemic.	24	A. No, they're the only two.

I don't know if they the judge signed or they use electronic signatures. I do not know. Q. When you returned from your visit to Lancaster, did you recommend that Montgomery County adopt a similar practice? A. I don't think so, no. 	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	 be able to wrap up pretty shortly thereafter. Is that okay? THE WITNESS: Okay. MS. FEIGENBAUM: That's fine with me. I have a few more questions, but I promise there're only a few. We today talked a lot about how you might be able to detect errors on a sentencing sheet. After you enter the information you enter into CPCMS, does anybody then go and check what you entered into CPCMS to make sure it is correct or accurate? A. Clerk of Courts. Q. And after you enter the information you enter into CPCMS, do you notify the judge that information has been entered in a case that he's presiding over?
2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21	 Q. And after you visited Lancaster and Philadelphia, did you brief any of your colleagues or superiors on what those counties do and compared to what Montgomery County does? A. Yes. Q. And to the extent you can remember, what were those differences? A. Philadelphia I can't even. I mean, it's too entailed. It's totally different. Lancaster, they don't have the volume of cases we do, so they're able to do it a different way. They do not use sheets; everything is put directly into CPCMS. Q. Okay. And in Lancaster, after information is put directly into CPCMS, can court clerks in Lancaster print out sentencing sheets? A. I do not recall how they do that. I don't know if they the judge signed or they use electronic signatures. I do not know. Q. 20	there's an actual assessment tab separate from where	20	fit?
21	you add financials based on offense.	21	A. Correct.
22	Q. Okay. Holding that thought for a moment, if	22	Q. And if it did fit but you were assessing costs
23	we flip back to no, I'm sorry. Look at Page 15.	23	on two different counts, you would uncheck it on the

2	Q. Okay. All right. So let me just see if I can	2	A. Correct.
3	summarize. For Mr. Esposito, you would have come to	3	Q. And then you would have clicked on Count 4?
4	the page that is represented on Page 13 in Exhibit 3,	4	A. You can do it all in the sentencing side.
5	you would have first clicked on Count 2 and clicked	5	Q. Okay. Yeah. Page 13, isn't that the
6	add.	6	sentencing side?
7	A. (Nods.)	7	A. Yeah, but it will show me other counts. This
8	Q. You would have gotten a list of assessments	8	person only has one, so that screenshot is not very
9	similar to that on Page 14?	9	Q. Not helpful.
10	A. (Nods.)	10	A. Yes, but when you're on the sentencing side,
11	Q. You keep nodding, but I am going to ask you to	11	you can select both guiltys, but I do them
12	say	12	individually. We don't batch.
13	A. I'm sorry. Correct.	13	Q. Got it. Okay. You don't batch?
14	Q. Thank you. If he doesn't have a booking fee,	14	A. Correct.
15	you would have unclicked booking fee?	15	Q. So after finishing the assessments for
16	A. Correct.	16	Count 2, you would hit okay, would you then go to a
17	Q. There might have been other things you would	17	screen where you could select Count 4?
18	have added, then, for his Count 2?	18	A. Correct.
19	A. In this case, no, there was nothing extra to	19
20	add. Whatever populated, I would do that.	20	Q. Again, we would see this long list of assessments?
20	Q. Okay. So after you removed the booking fee	20	A. Correct.
21	for him, you would have pushed okay?	22
	A. Correct.	22	Q. Since if he doesn't have a booking fee, you
23		1	would unclick the booking fee?
24	Q. And you would have gone back to the screen on	24	A. Correct.
1	Q. Is there anything you would have added for	1	A. Correct.
2	Count 4?	2	Q. Anything else?
3	A. No.	3	A. After that, I would create a payment plan.
4	Q. Okay. And, again, just to clarify, if he did	4	Q. Okay. He's going to serve a state sentence?
5	have a booking fee, you would have left that clicked on	5	A. Correct.
6	Count 2, but unclicked it on Count 4?	6	Q. So what would that payment plan be comprised
7	A. Correct.	7	of?
8	Q. Got it. And after you have done what you need	8	A. When I go to his max, which is three years, I
9	to do with Count 4, you hit okay?	9	create the payment plan for one month after he is
10	A. Correct.	10	released.
11	Q. What happens then?	11	Q. Got it. All right. Do you automatically
12	A. If I needed to add OSP, I would do that, but	12	create a payment plan for everyone?
13	since he's doing state sentence, there is no OSP and	13	A. Yes.
14	it's checked. Then I would go to the assessments side,	14	Q. And I think you had pointed out previously
15	add my COC fee.	15	actually, when we were looking at Mr. Jackson, you
16	Q. Okay. When you say "go to the assessment	16	pointed out a notation of the costs being paid within
17	side," you mean what is represented on Page 15 in the	17	36 months, but for Mr. Esposito, there is no such
18	manual in Exhibit 3?	18	notation, right?
19	A. Yes.	19	A. That is correct.
20	Q. What they call non-offense-related	20	Q. So what would his payment plan look like?
20	assessments?	21	What would the monthly payment be? How long would it
22	A. Correct.	22	last?
23	Q. So you told me you would go to this page so	23	A. If he was on probation, we'd do it based on
23	you could add your COC fee?	24	that, but they give him three years. So I would set it

2	him three years to pay.	2	notice?
3	Q. Got it. Okay.	3	A. It tells them their monthly payment and when
4	A. And that calculates, you know, one monthly	4	it's due at that date every month. It says what they
5	payment. It takes the total and it divides it so it's	5	owe in fines, what they owe just in regular costs, and
6	evenly spread through every month. It's the same	6	what they would owe in restitution with their total
7	amount for the three years.	7	balance.
8	Q. So whatever the total of the assessments on	8	Q. Okay. I need to go back to CPCMS.
9	the case including fines	9	A. Okay.
10	A. Fines, everything.	10	Q. We talked about the costs that get

12	A. Correct.	12	Page 14. How do you know which of those it's okay to
13	Q. And assign that as a monthly payment amount?	13	charge more than once?
14	A. Correct.	14	A. Because it automatically populates. The ones
15	Q. Okay. Then what happens?	15	that don't are the ones that I usually have to manually
16	A. They get an intro notice two weeks before	16	do. And the AT the automation fee, that's only one

IN THE COMMONWEALTH COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

AMY MCFALLS, et al. Petitioners v. 38th JUDICIAL DISTRICT, et al. Respondents

Affidavit of Michael Kehs, Montgomery County District Court Administrator

1. I, Michael Kehs, am the current District Court

Administrator for the 38th Judicial District of Pennsylvania and am competent to testify to the following.

2. I have worked in Court Administration since 1992, and have been District Court Administrator since November 25, 1999.

3. I am familiar with the Court's Administrative policies, procedures, and practices, and the forms maintained by Court

Administration.

4. In June 2022, the Court revised the criminal Sentencing Disposition Sheet to incorporate several updates, including the following section related to the imposition of costs:

The Court finds that Count(s) _____ are separate criminal conduct and costs are imposed on Count(s) _____.

5. This section memorializes a Judge's finding that separate counts constitute separate conduct when they are imposing costs on more than one count.

6. The 2022 revised Sentencing Disposition Sheet is Attached as Exhibit "1."

7. The Court has since revised other aspects of the Sentencing Disposition Sheet, but the section related to costs imposed on more than one count remain.

8. The current Sentencing Disposition Sheet, last revised in October 2023, is Attached as Exhibit "2."

9. In addition, I have reviewed Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief filed in this matter.

10. In paragraphs 54 through 55 of the Petitioners' Application for Summary Relief, they assert:

54. Pursuant to the interpretive policy adopted by the Clerk of Court's office at the instruction of the 38th Judicial District's leadership and the Clerk of Courts' determinations about which costs may be imposed only once or multiple times, Respondents never duplicate . . . six costs in criminal cases, even if the sentencing order calls for costs to be imposed on more than one count[.]

* `* *

55. Pursuant to the interpretive policy adopted by the Clerk of Court's office at the instruction of the 38th Judicial District's leadership and the Clerk of Courts' determinations about which costs may be imposed only once or multiple times, Respondents duplicate . . . nineteen costs in criminal cases if the sentencing order calls for costs to be imposed on more than one count[.](emphasis added).

11. While I am aware of the general interpretive guidance referred to in paragraph 23 of the Joint Stipulation of Facts and Law Submitted for the January 5, 2023 Class Certification Hearing, after reasonable investigation, I have uncovered no evidence to support the claim that the 38th Judicial District's leadership instructed the Clerk of Courts to assess or not to assess specific statutory costs, nor do I have any personal recollection of any such instruction.

12. Instead, it is my understanding that the calculation and assessment of costs against criminal offenders has been and is a ministerial function assigned to and handled by the Clerk of Courts in Montgomery County.

13. I verify the facts contained herein are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information and belief. I understand that the statements contained herein are made subject to the penalties of 18 Pa.C.S.A. § 4904 relating to unsworn falsification to authorities.
